Celebrating 150 Years of Vande Mataram:Dayal Singh Evening College Hosts National Song Singing Festival

HUMMER NEWS

NEW DELHI: The 150th anniversary of India's national song Vande Mataram is being commemorated across the country with a year-long series of events. As part of this national initiative, Dayal Singh Evening College organized a grand Vande Mataram Singing Festival on its campus.

The event was graced by the esteemed presence of Prof. Yogesh Singh, Vice Chancellor of the University of Delhi; Prof. Balram Pani, Dean of Colleges; Dr. Vikas Gupta, Registrar; Prof. D. S. Chauhan, Chairman of the College; Prof. Bhavna Pandey, Principal of Dayal Singh Evening College; and Prof. V. K. Paliwal, Principal of Dayal Singh College.

In his address, Vice Chancellor Prof. Yogesh Singh highlighted that Vande Mataram is a timeless symbol of India's national consciousness, cultural pride, and patriotic spirit. He emphasized that completing 150 years is not merely an occasion for celebration, but a moment to honour the historic significance of this iconic composition. Prof. Singh also remembered Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay, noting that his creation ignited a revolutionary wave during India's freedom struggle and left an indelible mark on the nation's history.
